Selectmen deny alcohol at softball

by Jeff Nazzaro

Local builder Jay Tighe delivered an update on the Modified Men's National Softball Tourney he is bringing to Wilmington and Tewksbury as well as a pitch to sell beer at the events held in Wilmington to the board of selectmen Monday night.

For the second (and third) time this year, selectmen denied Tighe the right to sell alcoholic beverages at Wilmington tournament sites Town Park, Glen Road, and Wilmington High School this Labor Day weekend.

The issue died without a motion after staunch opposition was heard from Selectman Chester Bruce; Selectmen Diane Allan and Gerald Duggan also offered negative recommendations.

But a late inning rally in the form of the 8:50 p.m. arrival of Selectman Robert Cain brought the decision to a 3-2 vote, with Cain and Chairman Michael McCoy on the losing side. After Cain motioned for a vote, McCoy offered a second and then voted in favor, though he at no point spoke for or against the temporary liquor license.

Tighe cited the support of Police Chief Bobby Stewart which stipulated provisions including the hiring of at least one detailed Wilmington Police Officer per site. Other conditions would have included only beer being sold, in plastic cups with a limit of two at a time per customer; no serving of intoxicated persons; no other alcoholic beverages allowed on the premises; and an alcohol checkpoint established at each site. Beer will be sold during the tournament at Tewksbury's Livingston Street Park under those conditions.

Tighe also told the board of selectmen that they would not be setting a precedence of allowing liquor to be sold on town-owned property. The Town Democratic Committee used to sell beer at picnics held at Town Park many years ago.

But selectmen, led by Bruce, were unwilling to reactivate the practice.

"I feel that this is softball...but I don't think that I want to be a part of alcohol being sold on town property where we're responsible for it," Bruce said.

And that seems to be the consensus among townspeople, most of whom will not participate as players or spectators at the tournament, according to two informal polls conducted by Duggan.

Duggan reported that "nobody thought it was a good idea [to sell alcohol] at all," including many men aged between 20 and 40 years old.

Tighe argued that alcohol consumption occurs - whether authorized or not - at such events and a license presented a way to control drinking.

"It goes on and what we're trying to do is make it legitimate with a police officer in a controlled area," Tighe said, remarking after the meeting that softball is associated with beer drinking.

But beer swilling softball players and patrons is not the image at least Allan, Bruce, Duggan wish to foster or sanction in the Town of Wilmington.

"I just don't think we want to see people with beers in their hands leaning over fences," Allan said.

Karen Boeri was one of several invited guests to the Gillespie household on Tuesday evening. They were there to witness the daily opening of the flowers on the Oenothera Argillicola. The flowers open at dusk every evening, stay open all night and wither and drop off the next day. The performance is repeated every evening from late spring until early autumn. Time between the small photo and the large is about five minutes.

Maybe moving the house would work...

by Jeff Nazzaro

"The house numbers on this block of Andover Street do not make any sense. We have two 49's, a sequence of 54, 52, and 56 plus a few others that are out of sequence."

So states a portion of a whimsically cathartic letter addressed to the Chairman of the Wilmington Board of Selectmen by George Webster, a 44-year resident of 56, no 52 Andover St.

Town Manager Michael Cairn had a little bit of fun reading the not-too-serious letter Webster penned without hope of recourse.

"But at least, I have had the satisfaction of saying it, and trust that you take it with a sense of humor, forget it, and not rock any boats," the letter, referred to by Cairn as "clever" concludes.

Here's the problem, as related by Webster: "Several years ago the town made an effort to renumber this area and assigned a logical sequence to the area. My house is supposed to be 56 instead of 52, but [Arthur and Joan] Jensen's is 56. [Dorothy and Kenneth] Getty's is 49 and [Dorothy] McKinnon's is also 49. Of course no one was willing to change their number, so they all remain the same. Either everyone would have to change or else it is hopeless..."

But town officials may have found a solution to the Andover Street numbers crunch.

"I think part of this problem has to do with 911," Cairn suggested.

Selectman Chester Bruce said similar house number problems in Florida have been clarified by color coding driveways with paint for emergency personnel.

Chairman Michael McCoy then suggested the board send an immediate reply to the cynical letter, which cited an "age of 'by the numbers' personnel at all levels of public and private service" - especially the U.S. Postal Service - as exacerbating and sustaining the problem.

"The Post Office now uses random mail delivery persons who do not know the names on the street, and really don't care, they can only read numbers," Webster vents in the correspondence. "It would seem to me," the letter continues, "the simplest solution to the problem would be to accept reality and leave the numbers as they are and send [mail] to the real addresses as they have been, and remained for many years."

Didn't they change the numbers? If the reader isn't confused enough by this, just try to find #4 Andover St. Sorry - no hints.

Thousands of fans & players to converge on town

by Jeff Nazzaro

The 1994 Modified Men's Fast Pitch National Softball Tournament is set to roar into Tewksbury, Wilmington and now Lowell this Labor Day weekend with between 170-180 games scheduled.

The three-day tournament, directed by Wilmington developer Jay Tighe, has area hotels booked up with between 80-90 crown questing softball squads qualifying for play.

The teams, coming from as far as Los Angeles, include three each from Tewksbury and Wilmington. The VFW squad, the D.A.V. Braves, and Oakdale Liquors will represent Tewksbury, while the Tighe Club, Jack's, and Wolfe Real Estate will play host in Wilmington.

Their competition will include the likes of the 18th and Louisville squad from Monroe, Georgia; the D'Onofrio Brothers from Brooklyn, New York; and Waldo's Tavern from Scranton, Pennsylvania.

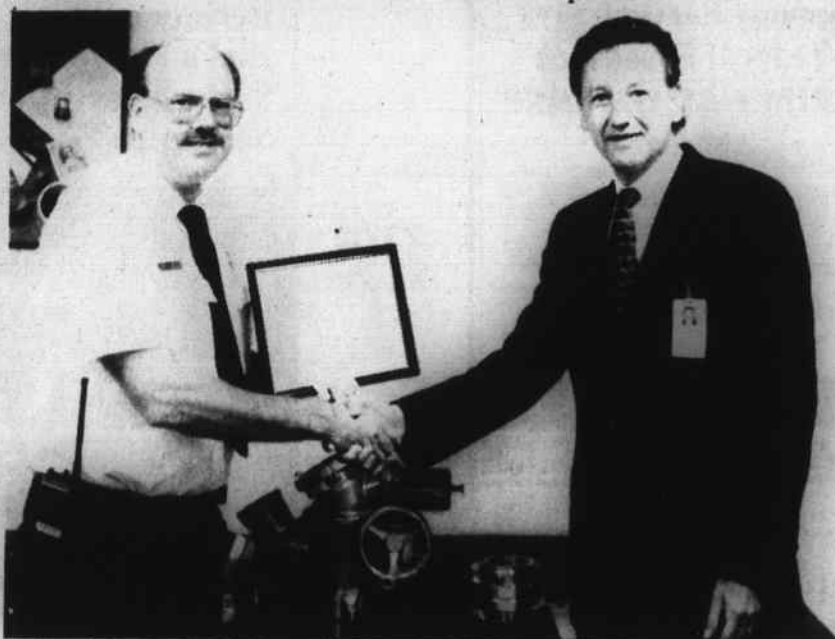

Modified fast pitch softball is nine player ball in which the pitcher can throw as fast as he wants without making a windmill rotation with his arm.

The tournament will be played at 10 sites scattered throughout Wilmington, Tewksbury, and Lowell and will attract between 1,800 and 2,000 players, umpires and volunteers.

Five fields at Tewksbury's Livingston Street Park will be used; in Wilmington, Town Park (Aprile Field), Wilmington High School, and two fields at Glen Road behind the town hall will be played on; and in Lowell, the Harry Allen Field near Toni's Restaurant on the Pawtucket Boulevard will be the site.

The Lowell City Council recently transferred $25,000 for the renovation of the field, Tighe said, in order to be included in the tournament.

Tighe said games will be played at all sites every two hours, with no games scheduled after 10:00 p.m. His only concern now is with the weather - should it rain, Tighe warned that games may have to be played around the clock. If that is the case, residents of the Saunders Circle elderly housing development, which abuts Livingston Street Park, have already consented to such an arrangement.

birthday, also July 15. Maddisen will reign for one year.

The daughter of Greg and Lisa Getchell of Westdale Avenue, and a student at the Wildwood School, Maddisen was nominated by a modeling agent, which is how one is entered in the pageant. She then had to fill out questionnaires, send in a portfolio, and have a personal interview. The pageant is based on poise, beauty, personality and ability to speak before a crowd. Maddisen was then chosen from among others to be crowned Junior Miss Wilmington, Petite.

An enthusiastic gymnast, who also loves soccer and the Babysitters Club Books, Maddisen will go on to compete in the state finals in Waltham, for Junior Miss Massachusetts.

Her sponsor is Elaine Hoff of Re/Max Hearthstone Realty of 11 Middlesex Avenue, Wilmington.

Eight-year-old Maddisen Getchell was crowned Junior Miss Greater Wilmington in the Junior Miss America Pageant Friday, July 15, giving her brother Gregory a double reason for celebrating his

Agfa donates fire equipment

Agfa Division of Miles Inc. recently contributed equipment to the Wilmington Fire Department that will aid in the goal of community fire protection. Michael Paige made several comments on the belief that Agfa is a partner in the Wilmington community, and as such, is always striving to be a good neighbor.

Agfa employs 1,800 people in the Wilmington area, in the manufacture and sale of electronic pre-press and photographic material.

Chief Stewart, who accepted the equipment, said that hose capacities will be doubled, therefore, allowing better fire protection to the community.

The Wilmington Fire Department, by promoting safety and fire prevention programs within the business community, has long been active in this theme of "Community Partnerships." The town, working with local businesses like Agfa, can improve the quality of life for the while community.

Grass roots drive to save golf team

by James Pote

On July 27th, Wilmington High School Athletic Director Jim Gillis recommended to the school committee that three varsity sports - golf, and boys and girls tennis - would be eliminated from this year's upcoming season due to budget restraints arising out of coaching salary raises. With some concerns from the players and parents of the golf team, they are trying a different approach: to support their own team.

"There is some movement with the parents of trying to keep [golf] going. Nothing is finalized yet, but we hope to meet with Mr. Gillis on this issue," said head coach Al Fesseden, who would be entering his eighth year as coach.

One idea from parents has been to solicit some of the $2,300 needed in donations from local businesses.

Bob Torrani and his son, Rob, who plays on the golf team, are trying to do anything possible to help out.

"I thought it was a shame that the golf team was eliminated. I really like the sport and I hope the kids will have an opportunity to continue playing it. We the parents are just trying to help the kids and hopefully they can continue to play," said Bob Torrani.

"A lot of kids have shown a lot of interest to keep it. When we found out the team was cut we were all disappointed and we wanted to be able to help to keep playing," said Rob Torrani, who finished up his freshman year as the number two golfer at Wilmington High.

Over the years the golf team has received a lot of help from many people, including the Town of North Reading, which allows them to practice at no cost at their Hillview Country Club golf facility. They also receive help from various companies which supply them with golf balls.

"I think it is really great that the parents are trying to help out the kids. I think it is a shame that a varsity sport would have to play outside the athletic budget. But, I would like to see some commitments from other people. Hopefully, the parents won't be relied upon every year," continued Fesseden.

Rt 62 bridge still up in the air

by Jeff Nazzaro

In what will probably come down to a special meeting of the Wilmington Board of Selectmen, the Massachusetts Highway Department has sent notice to the town that current improvement plans for the Route 62-Route 38 intersection include only replacement of the bridge crossing Boston and Maine Railroad tracks there. In other words, according to MassHighway, "the Town of Wilmington is responsible for the long term improvements to the intersection and traffic circulation in the downtown area."

Town officials led by the Wilmington Redevelopment Authority, the Planning Board and the Board of Selectmen, had hoped for Storch Engineers - under contract by Mass Highway - to generate a plan for the development of a five-lane cross-section with an eight foot Main Street parking lane.

In a letter addressed to resigned Redevelopment Authority Chairman Vaughn Surprenant, Mass-Highway Commissioner Laurinda T. Bedingfield states that such work "is beyond the parameters of this bridge replacement project and is not included in the Scope of Work for Storch Engineer's contract. The development of this scheme is the responsibility of the Town of Wilmington..."

This news has town officials scrambling to pick-up the pieces of the now dashed intersection plans.

Selectmen Chairman Michael McCoy Monday instructed Town Manager Michael Caira to notify the town's state representatives and to also bring concerned town officials up-to-date on the situation.

Selectman Diane Allan, who favored the eight foot parking lane to protect the interests of local businesses at the town center along Main Street, also suggested notifying the owners of those establishments as to the situation.

"The Town of Wilmington should be actively pursuing a project or series of projects which will improve the [traffic] circulation patterns in the Downtown area in the long term," Bedingfield's letter advises - which the town will apparently take up at a probably forthcoming special selectmen's meeting.

King foils theft

by Jeff Nazzaro

Wilmington Police Inspector Pat King, responding to a silent alarm at a Salem Street resident, foiled a break-in and arrested a suspect. Patrolman Brian Tully assisted King in the arrest.

John K. Hall, 33, of 27 Onley St., Dorchester, a self-admitted heroin addict, was arrested Monday on charges of breaking and entering in the daytime with intent to commit a felony, possession of burglarious instruments, receiving stolen property, and malicious damage to property.

When King arrived at the house, he discovered an open window and a black Volkswagen in the driveway. Hall then emerged from the front door and was tackled and handcuffed by King.

The Volkswagen had license plates stolen from Wakefield and Hall was allegedly interrupted filling a pillow case with silverware.

It's YOUR Money

BY JOYCE BRISBOIS
Certified Public Accountant

WHO'S SELF EMPLOYED?

Most people work for one company and, at the end of the year, get a W-2 Form listing their earnings. Some run their own businesses or work as independent contractors for other firms, their fees reported on a Form 1099. And some people work both ways.

Self-employment income gets reported on a Schedule C or C-EZ. The downside of being self employed is that you have to pay not only income tax but also social security and medicare taxes on the net self employment income, figured on Schedule SE.

But there are advantages, too, to being self-employed, even partially. You can deduct business expenses you incur in earning the money - even a home office, if the space is used exclusively as the principal place to do the self employment work. In addition, you can set up and fund a Keogh plan for a percentage of your self employment income, even if you have other pension plans and do not qualify for a deductible IRA. You may also get a medical insurance deduction.

Frustration all around

by Bill Conlon

If you couldn't open your windows because the chemical smell was too overpowering, what would you do? You'd gripe.

If chemical solvents were found in your yard, right underfoot, what would you do? You'd howl, long and hard.

And if members of your family were falling ill and dying, and even your pets were dying, what would you do? You'd roll up your sleeves and fight.

Judy Fittery and her mother, Rose Tracey, have been doing just that for years. The chemical smell at their home on Bemis Circle is awful. Chemicals have been found on their land, and diseases have been claiming family and pets.

The source is blatant. The now-closed Rocco dump looms over their neighborhood. Mounds of buried trash, and God knows what else, dominate the skyline. There's no telling what was buried on the property over the years, but there is evidence that chemicals are seeping into the area. The contamination must be coming from somewhere, and the dump is the only likely source.

Simply put — There's the problem, people are dying, so fix it!

But nothing has been done, after years of effort. Frustration is too gentle a word.

Fittery has been a ceaseless activist for the landfill problem, but nothing substantial has been done. She's been called "a pain in the ass" by some, which is a sobriquet she can wear with pride. Would you give up, if you were in her place? Hardly.

The town last year conducted an informal health study of some 300 homes near the former landfill. While the results have been inconclusive by some accounts, and damning by others, nothing has officially been done yet. Perhaps a more detailed survey of health problems will bring action, but so far no agency has been willing to step forward and grab the banner, or the cost.

A parade of state and local officials have visited Bemis Circle, from Tewksbury selectmen to U.S. Senator Edward Kennedy, but still no action. An alphabet soup of DEP, EPA, ATSDR, DPH and other state and federal agencies have at least heard about the situation, but still the problem exists. The visits raise hopes, then the lack of action brings frustration. Again and again.

The town, for the most part, is handcuffed. If the town assumes ownership of the dump by taking the property for unpaid taxes, the town will be responsible for cleaning and capping the site. The cost of such a project would be crippling, and the town has no desire to assume such a burden. State Rep. Jim Miceli said the Legislature will consider a bill to absolve towns from the liability of taking over such nightmares, but no such law has yet passed.

A $30,000 engineering study of the former dump will be done soon, paid for by the town. The engineering data will provide the basis for a proposed future capping of the dump. Clay from the Third Harbor Tunnel project in Boston will be hauled up to Tewksbury, if all goes well, and a temporary off-ramp from I-93 is proposed to haul the clay to the site, rather than see a stream of heavy trucks barreling down twisty and narrow South Street.

Capping will not remove the problem, however. Capping the mounds with clay will keep rainwater from percolating through the mess and carrying more of the contaminants into the area, but it won't make the toxic materials now in the ground go away.

Still, a partial victory is better than none.

Keep up the fight, Rose and Judy. Stay the course.

The Captain's ship

by Capt. Larz Neilson

If you've always wanted to see this Captain's ship now is your chance! A World War II "Liberty" ship is to visit Portland, Maine. The purpose is to allow the present generation to view a sample of the cargo and troop ships of World War II.

This writer commanded four Liberties in World War II. He carried munitions to Africa. He carried a cargo of war time supplies to the Persian Gulf, 17,900 miles, for across land delivery to Russia. He commanded a troop ship which delivered some thousands of American soldiers to the Mediterranean Sea and many more thousands of French Colonials in the Mediterranean.

He did not participate in the D-Day invasion in Normandy, but did take part in several others, all in the Mediterranean.

The Jeremiah O'Brien is in Portland, Maine. She was built in South Portland and has hull number 230. She is the only Liberty Ship still in existence which has not been altered from the original design.

She'll be open to the public until Sunday, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Admission is only $3.00 for the tour and only $1.00 for children.

Take Rt 95 north to the Maine Turnpike and get off at Exit 6A to Rt 295. Follow that to exit 7 and get off onto Rt 1A. Follow that to the waterfront, the Maine State Pier. It's a two hour trip from Wilmington.

School bus transportation woes

by Capt. Larz Neilson

The Wilmington School Committee last week decided on a "new" minimum distances for school pupils who ride town school buses to school. The distances at which the school committee arrived were those set by the school committee back about 1924, and which were established after a period of what may be termed "political warfare."

That "warfare" started in the Silver Lake area, thanks in part to an organization known as the "Silver Lake Betterment."

As a result of the school committee vote any intermediate or elementary student in the Wilmington schools, living within a mile and a half from school must walk. No longer will there be a free ride. For high school pupils the distance will be two miles.

It is possible there will again be "political" warfare, as a result of that vote. But the school committee was repeating the vote of about 70 years ago. Several items might be mentioned.

Many present high school students now drive to school. That number will surely increase. Families with two working parents will find it more convenient to allow their student to drive than to provide the transportation before the daily commute to the city. Given the crowded parking conditions this could be a problem.

The school committee has petitioned the selectmen to close Grove and Lake Streets during student walk times because of a lack of sidewalks. This will surely be a very un-popular move.

Then one must consider the liability for one accident. The town of Wilmington is "self insured" to a limit in the millions. One accident will wipe out the $23,000 savings in the blink of an eye.

This problem needs more study. A lot more study.

letters to the editor

Dear Larz:
I would like to comment on health reform legislation now being debated in Congress.

I live on Middlesex Street in Lowell. Many times a day you can hear the shrill call of ambulance sirens conveying sick people to local hospitals. I used to be primarily concerned with how ill the person was and I'd cross myself. Now I'm concerned whether the person has health insurance, or if he failed to get adequate preventive treatment because he lacked health insurance.

How did we in a country that prides itself on the quality of its medical care arrive at a situation where as many as 50 million in any given year have no health care coverage? Here are a few reasons:

1. Too many of us have been callous. We've got great insurance - why should we worry about those who don't have it? It will only raise taxes. Fears of taxes is replacing the golden rule!
2. Special interests, doctors, hospitals, pharmaceutical and insurance companies who have an interest in the status quo are spending millions to defeat health reform.

3. Insurance companies cherry-pick, insuring only the healthiest while charging exorbitant sums to those considered high risk, while rejecting others outright.

To use a sports cliché, the next few months will do crunch time for health care reform. The issue will be debated on the floor of the House and Senate. Tensions will be high, since so much will depend on the outcome. This is no time to procrastinate, to say wait till next year. This is the time to call your Congressman and Senators Kerry and Kennedy, urging them to vote for health care reform that will provide universal care, control costs, have prescription drug coverage, plus home and community based care!

Sincerely,
Stanley S. Lee

Committee member

Dear Larz:
In the heat and humidity of the summer, an escape was provided by the Wilmington Summer Recreation Basketball.

Games started most nights at six o'clock and ran until the last starting time at nine. It was held outdoors, under the lights at the North Intermediate School.

Word soon got around that if you arrived early because of family vacations, teams would be short a player or two and one could get in an extra game. As the season wore on, it was noticed that even parents were arriving early and staying until the last game "fining" was played, just to watch the fun. The league had a relaxed atmosphere and proved to be very entertaining for all.

The kids who played exhibited some skills that could have been seen in the NBA. As the season wore on, passes and shots became more and more unbelievable. Sometimes one could swear that the players were trained by the Harlem Globetrotters. The most remarkable part of summer recreation basketball, though was Bob LaVita, the person who directed it single handedly.

On any given night, Bob was in comic relief action. The jokes, one liners and smiles were all over the court. The respect given each child showed in his caring manner. The way the players never argued with a call or stepped out of line, showed without doubt that the respect given them was fully returned by referee LaVita.

I would like to say thanks for the entertainment! Any chance it could continue until the end of August next year?

Thanks,
Donna Mason

Town employees had nearly finished rebuilding the ballpark at the Woburn Street School. Loam for the project was donated to the town in 1983.

The Wilmington Company of Minutemen donated a plaque for the Robert Parent Memorial which was to be placed in front of the old town hall. Capt. Bob Paulsen of the Minutemen was pictured as he presented the plaque to DAV Commander Fred Shine.

Buster and Nancy Murphy of Crest Avenue and daughters Jill and Jody recently returned home following an enjoyable and educational vacation touring Washington D.C.

Dora Hirtle of Jaquith Road was selected Member of the Issue for the summer edition of North Light Magazine, a source book for artists published in Fairfield, Ct.

Mary McNaughton of Marie Drive was named the dean's list at Holy Cross College.

Bill MacKinnon of Moore Street won the Town Crier's mythical peaspoon award for harvesting the earliest peas of the season. He was also recognized as being the first man to wear a shirt of the British flag to a Minuteman meeting.

Dynamics Research of Concord Street was awarded contracts from the Army and Air Force totaling more than $3 million.

Tewksbury

The August 15, 1984 edition of the Town Crier of Tewksbury noted that:

Town Planner Lee Newman resigned her position to accept a similar post in Sudbury.

With a few pieces of key information still missing, the town's financial officials said they could not fill in the town's fiscal 1985 budget puzzle enough to let them estimate how much the $23.1 million spending plan was over the limits of Prop 2 1/2.

After reviewing plans for several weeks, the Planning Board voted to issue a special permit that would allow construction of 75 condo units in a mixed use district off Main Street. The action came on a 4-1 vote with planner George Donovan casting the long negative.

Airman Barbara O'Brien of Shawshen Street was assigned to Brooks Air Force Base, Texas after completing basic training.

Joan Walker was promoted to the position of training coordinator by Friendly's. She would be responsible for the manager training program in the firm's Boston area establishments.

EARLY CHILDHOOD CENTER
1503 Andover Street, Tewksbury, MA 01876
(508) 851-3220
Learning is something children do... while they're having fun! That's the philosophy of the Lil' Red Schoolhouse and, at this school, the children have lots of fun!
At Lil' Red, each child receives close, personal attention. Teachers and staff encourage the physical, social, emotional, and intellectual development of every child through developmentally appropriate curriculum and teaching methods. Lil' Red understands the pressures, challenges, and changes that affect each child, in and away from school, which is why Lil' Red Schoolhouse's approach and philosophy work so well with children and families.
Lil' Red Schoolhouse enrolls students in nursery, full-day or extended-day preschool, full day kindergarten, and various enrichment programs from ages 2 years 9 months to 14 years.
In the summer, the Summer Explorer's Camp is available for children ages 6 to 14 years. This year's theme is "America, from all walks of life." The children will find out about what makes the United States and North America so very special by learning about our Native and Early Americans, Creepy Crawlers, Endangered Species and even the White House Ghosts! Students aged 12-14 can participate in a "Counselor in Training" program which enables them to help plan or run activities with the younger children.

The Lil' Red Schoolhouse is located at 1503 Andover Street, Tewksbury. For more information, call Executive Director Alice Juchnevics-Kontos at (508) 851-3220.

You don't have to leave Wilmington for quality seafood, chicken, steaks, salads, pasta, pizza, subs, and more! Just go to Mancini's... where the food is great, but the meals aren't expensive!
"Try us... you'll be back," says owner, Jim Meehan. Extra time and effort is the reason why. At Mancini's, they take time to make good food - even making their own tartar sauce, house dressing, and chicken, veal, & eggplant parmesan. Why? Because homemade is better than pre-made.
Visit Mancini's dining room for lunch (11am-3pm) and enjoy one of their 1/2-Sub Sandwiches - served with french fries or cole slaw, and soup or chili - all for only $3.99. Or, try one of their luncheon specials... most priced under $5.00

Mancini's proud owners... Jim and Willa Meehan
For dinner, choose from a selection of appetizers, entrees, and delicious desserts. They also have a liquor license, and a children's menu.
"Keno" is coming to Mancini's. They'll be one of the first - watch for an announcement. For now, they are a Lottery Agent and have an "Instant Action" lottery ticket machine.
Mancini's is open daily, 10am to 10pm, and Friday until 11pm. They accept Master Card and Visa on orders of $10.00 or more. They have a full Take-Out Menu, and free delivery within a 4-mile radius. And remember, according to Jim, "If you can't find it here, you're not hungry!"

The clean-ups are coming

by Jeff Nazzaro

With the Wilmington Watershed Clean-up scheduled for September 10, town activists bringing the event to a head are already looking towards preventive maintenance methods for their efforts to purge the town's waterways of debris.

Selectman Gerald Duggan Monday night indicated to the board of selectmen that the watershed group wants to have "no dumping" signs placed at strategic locations along Wilmington brooks and streams. Everything from shopping carts to shingles and tires to entire automobiles have found their way into the brooks over the years. Clean-up crusaders believe the signs will offer some deterrent to illicit dumpers.

In the same stream of thought, Duggan brought an update of his own project - the Adopt-A-Road program, modeled after the Mass. Highway Department program bearing the same name.

The Adopt-A-Road program is looking for pledges from the town's civic and fraternal organizations to maintain certain stretches of the town's roadways twice a year - once in the spring and again in the fall.

Town DPW would provide gloves and bags and then pick-up filled trash bags following beautifying forays by concerned townspeople.

The Adopt-A-Road program has a meeting scheduled at the town hall for Wednesday, September 14 at 7:00 p.m. for all interested persons.

Tewksbury Community Education program under way

Anthony J. Romano has released the fall calendar for the 1994 Tewksbury Community Education Program. Romano has announced that course offerings and related information will be mailed to each resident's home the last week of August. These brochures will also be available at the various school offices in town.

The program includes two 10 week semesters. Registration can be accomplished by mail or in person at the Memorial High School on the nights of September 12, 13, and 14 from 6 to 8 p.m. Fall semester classes will be held Mondays or Wednesdays from September 26 through December 7.

More information is available by writing to the Division of Community Education, Tewksbury Memorial High School, 320 Pleasant St., Tewksbury, MA 01876. The telephone number (508) 640-9658, will serve as the only phone line for Community Education information. Please do not call other school telephone numbers for information about Community Education.

Martin Flaherty honored by U.S.P.S.

Monday, June 6, on the 50th anniversary of D-Day, the U.S. Postal Service honored its 2100 employees who are veterans of W.W. II. One of those honored was Martin J. Flaherty of Middlesex Avenue, Wilmington. Each of these veterans received a personal letter of thanks and appreciation from Marvin Runyon, CEO/Postmaster General of the United States, and a commemorative cache of W.W.II stamps.

Martin, who joined the Navy September 17, 1943, was a First Class Petty Officer SK. He was stationed aboard the USS LST602, which was attached to the 6th Fleet in the Mediterranean/European Theater. His ship was involved with engagements in Greece, North Africa, Sicily, Italy and Southern France.

State Rep. Jim Miceli was on hand for the ribbon cutting at the Eames Street bridge last Thursday. Left to right are Ralph LaCambria, Mass Highway Department Resident Engineer and Wilmington resident, Rep. Miceli, Jennie Lee Colosi, president and Fred Barrett of ET & L Construction. Miceli was responsible for getting the money from the state to reconstruct the bridge after it was damaged by fires and trains.

But, now that the bridge is open, the Railroad crossing beside (not beneath) is closed for a new rubber crossing (like the one at Main St. & Middlesex Ave.). That project will only take three days and should be open by the weekend.

Woods appointed as Water Dept. Superintendent

by Jeff Nazzaro

Michael Woods, a five-year employee of the Town of Wilmington, has been appointed to succeed Paul Niman as the town's Water and Sewer Department Superintendent by Town Manager Michael Cairra.

Woods, who began as Senior Civil Engineer before becoming Assistant Town Engineer in Wilmington, has been acting superintendent since Niman resigned earlier this year.

Woods was among six finalists interviewed for the position by a panel comprised of Cairra, Assistant Town Manager Jeff Hull, DPW Superintendent Bob Palmer, and Water and Sewer Commissioners Chairman Noel Baratta and Neil Waisnor.

"I am confident that my appointment of Mr. Woods will prove beneficial to town government and will serve in the best interests of the present and future operation of the Water and Sewer Department," Cairra stated.

Woods, who holds an Associate's Degree in Civil Engineering from the University of New Hampshire and is member of the Massachusetts,

New England and American Water Works Associations, will have department head status but will report directly to Palmer, Cairra said.

In addition, he will serve as executive staff and departmental liaison to the board of water and sewer commissioners and will represent the town on the MWRA Advisory Board along with Hull.

SELLING TOOLS THAT GET ACTION

After a month of trying to sell "By Owner" you have listed your home with a Realtor. You begin to notice that the marketing of your home is being handled differently. While you had classified ads every weekend, your agent has only advertised twice all month. However, you notice there is a lot more activity than you were able to generate on your own.

When your home is being marketed professionally, your Realtor has many powerful selling tools not available to homeowners. We have national and worldwide referral networks and the Multiple Listing Service. We also are listing other homes similar to yours, and every time we advertise one of them, it may bring in a call from the people who will buy your home. We work cooperatively with other area brokers, sharing information and selling each other's listings. So when you list with one broker, it gives you access to hundreds of agents' buyer backlog lists. We use all of these tools to market our listings aggressively - and to get sales action!

For professional advice on buying or selling real estate, please drop by our office in the Starwood Building at 299 Main Street, or call us at 657-8444.

Janet Shine was giving directions to the photographer as this shot was taken. More interesting than the gesture to turn the camera "this way" is the background. Do you recognize it? Of course! It's the Statue of Liberty. But, wait, there's more! There's the Eiffel Tower, too!

Most Americans know where the Eiffel Tower is, but don't realize that Paris, France has a Statue of Liberty, too.

Janet was in Paris as part of a tour put together by Wilmington teachers Bill Peabody and Frank Birmingham. The trip went through Italy, France and England, arriving home again Saturday. (Photo by Kim Surprenant)

Wilmington senior topics

Voter registration forms

The Council on Aging has voter registration forms at the Center for seniors who have moved into Wilmington recently and would like to register to vote, but cannot get to the town hall. All that is necessary is to fill in the card and answer all the questions then mail it to the town clerk, Town Hall, Glen Road, Wilmington. The Senior Center is open from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Anyone can pick up a registration form for someone else.

Fair committee

The Fair Committee are very busy spending many hours preparing for the October Fall Fair. This year they will need many items to fill their tables. To do this we will all have to work together to help them make the Fair successful. Anything you can do to help will be gratefully accepted. Many mittens are always needed along with their knitted articles, also, craft, wood, metal and crocheted articles. New gifts for Christmas shopping table, baked goods for the table and lunch.

We all know the money earned at the fair pays for the Christmas Open House, the July Social, all equipment and material needed for the craft, ceramic, and shop classes, bingo cards, exercise and dance equipment and tapes, also all kitchen appliances. To earn enough money to keep the programs free to all, the committee would like it if everyone would take at least one book of chances. It is only $5, or 10 cents a week.

Podiatrist

The podiatrist will be at the Center Wednesday, Aug. 17 from 10 a.m. He will be treating ailments of the feet. Please call the center for an appointment by Tuesday August 16.

Health care

There is a tough fight ahead for health care reform that will include long term care for the elderly. Attention is now turned to the leaders of the House and Senate. Their job will be to consolidate all the different bills into final reform packages and present them to the full House and Senate for debate and a vote. We have to make sure the health Care Reform Bills include long term care for the elderly as part of any universal and comprehensive health care plan. Now is the time to call for Senators Kennedy and Kerry and Congressman Torkildsen to urge them to work with Senate and Congressional leaders to ensure that long term care is included in the Leadership Bill. You can reach them through the capitol switchboard at 202-224-3121. The president wants a reform bill passed this month, it is imperative that to call now.

Commissioners meet Aug. 16

The Commissioners meeting will be held in the function room of the Senior Citizen Center Tuesday, Aug. 16 starting at 1:30 p.m. Candidates from both parties seeking their party's election have been invited to speak to the seniors at this meeting. As this is a televised meeting seniors who will be unable to come to the center due to confinement or work but would like to ask one of the candidates a question. All that is necessary is to call or write the question to the center. It will be given to the commission. The questions will be read to the candidate. Invitations have been sent to all candidates running for United States Senate and Congress, State Senate and House, Governor and Lt. Governor, Attorney General and District Attorney and many others. As of this news column some have not been heard from as to whether they will or will not attend this meeting.

The commissioners are hoping to see a large turn out of seniors at this meeting to give the candidates a statement the Wilmington seniors do not give away their vote until they learn all they can about the candidate. Light refreshments will be available in the kitchen.

Tighe Club, Nationals looking to grab attention at Tournament

by James Pote
Softball, with its estimated 40 million participants, reigns as the number one team participation sport in America. And on this Labor Day weekend, big-time softball will finally come to Wilmington. This of course, is the Mens Major Modified Fast Pitch National Softball Tournament.

Over the span of four days (from September 1-5) over 90 teams from all across the country will take part in this double elimination World Series of amateur softball. It is expected that over 10,000 people will be on hand to watch over 170 games being played on nine fields (four in Wilmington and Tewksbury and one in Lowell). It is also expected that the local economy will be boosted up by an estimated $1 million thanks to this tournament. This was all because of Wilmington builder/developer Jay Tighe, who as tournament director has brought the activity to the area.

"Massachusetts has never had a National Tournament and New England hasn't had one in over 30 years," Tighe said. "It's a great opportunity for this state and region."

Tighe is currently the co-sponsor of the C and W Tighe Club of Wilmington (Carol and Walter Patterson represent the C and W side). Just last year in Decatur, Georgia, Tighe witnessed his team finish second in the Nationals, losing to Crafttech/CBS, of Seacaucus, New Jersey by a score of 2-1.

Before that, Tighe also enjoyed watching his team take home a National title in 1984, as well as another second place finish in 1985. In 1988 and 1989 he witnessed his team take fifth place. His team is one of the 22 Massachusetts teams who will play in the tournament.

Wolfe Real Estate and Jack's team (Wilmington's host team and representative from the Wilmington Modified League) will also represent Wilmington in this tournament.

Wilmington's number one sports enemy, Tewksbury, has three teams itself: D.A.V. Braves as well as Oakdale Liquors and the VFW (Tewksbury's host team). All these teams have one thing in mind: to bring home a National Championship. However, that will not come easy.

There are many strong teams who they will have to go up against amongst the 90 teams many of whom will be arriving at Logan Airport.

For instance, Crafttech/CBS will be returning for another run at the title. Others who should be in strong contention for the title will be Stafford Tire (Port Mamath, New Jersey); Twin Peaks - sponsored by David Lynch's hit TV series (Los Angeles, California); Orange Crush (also from L.A.); Interstate Battery (from Worcester and the only other Massachusetts team other than Tighe Club to win a National title); and of course, Tighe Club, who has a well-known reputation as being one of the top teams in the country.

Since their establishment in 1980, Tighe Club has put up an impressive record of 780-236, which includes a 35-9 record so far this year.

Their best season came in 1984 when they brought home the winning title. Overall in the league they were 26-2 that season, while posting a 52-5 record in tournament play which brought their mark to an unbelievable 78-7.

Other favorable seasons for the club came in 1988 and 1989 when they pulled off records of 62-11 and 64-12, respectively. In the 1987 season, they registered their most ever wins in a single season with a 79-16 record.

During those seasons, Tighe Club has had many great players, including a few locals. Artie Bibeau, who will be catching for Jack's team this year, compiled a .342 batting average. Kevin Lemay, also from Wilmington, batted .350 in his stay.

Through 1993, two Tighe Club players achieved significant milestones. Dave Camacho and Jim Shaugnessy both registered their 1,000th hit as Tighe Club members. Only Camacho will add to his hit totals in this year's tournament.

Their pitcher, Dave Meader, has been impressive to say the least. Meader, from Miami, Florida, pitched in every game and every inning of last year's Nationals. He compiled a 9-3 record after beating Crafttech once to force a second final game, where they lost by a score of 2-1.

Moreover, this tournament has already done a lot for the town of Wilmington. Tighe and his staff have cleaned up a few fields while making some additional improvements to them. Two of the Glen Road fields in Wilmington that will be used have been provided with new backstops (cost: about $2,500 each).

Also to kick off the tournament, Tighe is organizing a game between the town employees of Wilmington and Tewksbury on Tuesday, August 30.

He has also has brought in Rich Hoppe from California to provide some entertainment. Who is Rich Hoppe? Hoppe is currently planning to go on tour for the Kings of Diamonds, who are a group of players who put on fun and exciting shows for not only current softball players and fans but most especially for kids (i.e., they're the Harlem Globetrotters of softball).

Hoppe has been entertaining for well over 12 years. He dazzles kids with his blazing fast ball pitches from between his legs, and he puts on a fantastic show for everyone.

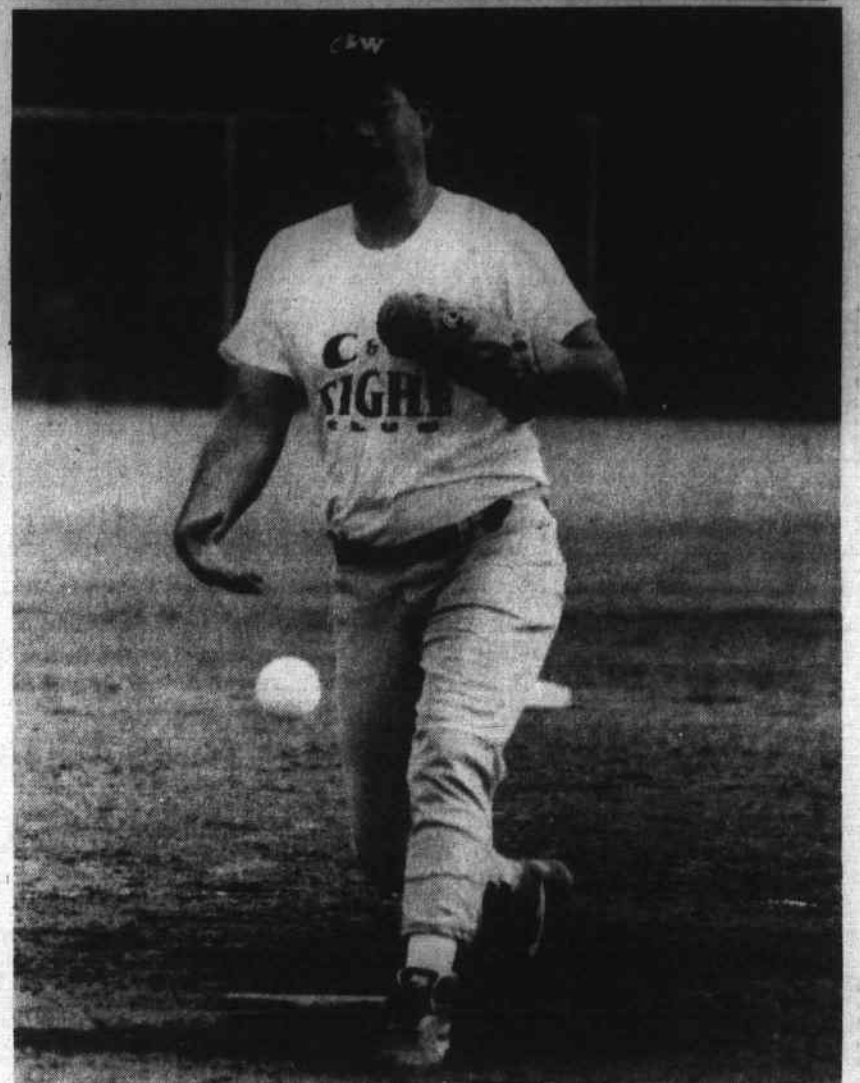

The fun is still not done. Tighe and his staff have been extremely busy. Not only have they upgraded fields with new backstops and electrical facilities, they also have provided face painters and clowns for kids as well as banquets, bands and other hospitality events for the weekend.

Now the days can be counted down. Two years ago, Tighe went to Palm Springs, California, where he put on a humorous presentation in which they voted 200-46 in favor of having the tournament here in Wilmington/Tewksbury over the Miami/Hialeah, Florida area.

At that time, Tighe was really hoping for the chance to have the Nationals here. He was granted his wish. With the sport constantly growing, who knows if Massachusetts or New England will ever get a chance to show off this kind of softball again.

If softball fans miss this, they may never get another chance.

Dave Meader of C and W Tighe Club delivers a pitch during a recent Men's Major Fast pitch softball tournament here at Aprle Field in Wilmington. Meader was a big contributor for the Tighe Club last year when he took the team to the finals pitching every game. This year he hopes to do at least the same if not more at the National Tournament held on Labor day weekend at Wilmington and Tewksbury.

Suzy Walsh is just about to cross the finish line as she was named the MVP for the sixth time for Bentley College's Women's Track team. Walsh just graduated this spring and she is a former WHS standout student and athlete.

Rich Hoppe demonstrates how to have fun with a little kid out in California. Hoppe is a softball entertainer for all kinds of softball fans and he will be bringing his act to Wilmington during the Men's Major Modified Fast pitch tournament held here in Wilmington and Tewksbury on Labor Day Weekend.

Walsh named MVP for sixth time

Record breaking senior Suzy Walsh of Wilmington was recognized recently as the MVP of the 1993-94 Bentley College women's varsity track team.

It was the sixth MVP award for Walsh, who was previously honored as the women's cross country MVP each of her four seasons and the track team's MVP in 1993.

Walsh, who narrowly missed qualifying for a fourth NCAA Division II championship this past spring, lowered her own school record in the 800 meters to 2:15.0. She also added the record in the 400 meters (59.8) to her collection, which also includes the 1500 indoors and outdoors, the 800 indoors and several relays.

Derainian belts grand slam to win it for Shea Concrete

Over 35 League
Shea's Concrete 16
Charlies Auto Body 15
George "Jerry" Derainian smacked a grand slam to win and the end the game for the struggling Shea's Concrete as they pulled out the upset over Charlies Auto Body in the last inning in Wilmington Over 35 softball.

After Charlies scored eight runs in the top of the seventh, Shea's scored one before Derainian went deep over the leftfield monster to end the game and give them an edge of 16-15.

Also giving a hand for the winning push were Mike Hardiman, Ray Parker and John Pellerin who each had three hit performances at the plate.

As for Charlies Ken Chiocola, Mark Petrs and Joe Raso combined for eight hits and seven RBI's.

Lions Club 16
Stelio's 7
After making fun of him, Scott Aldrich showed off his power blasting one to another zip code for his first and only homerun of his career (Just kidding Scott). Teammates Charlie Vallas and Frank Vallas have seven hits between them with Riley showing off his speed with an inside the park homerun.

As for Stelio's Mike Griffen, John Engdahl and Stew Ring went a combined 7-9 with two triples and five RBI's (did someone say the Three Stooges were playing softball).

Rocco's 9
Uptown Deli 2
After leading 4-2 after five innings, Rocco's tapped another five runs on the board to break the game open and to continue their first place drive.

Jimmy Rappoli supplied the power with a homerun that landed and then bounced over the top of the fence (what luck). His teammates Mike Herra, Larry Cushing and Bill Ennis had two hits each also for Rocco's.

Bob Frongillo had two hits including a triple in the losing effort.

Rocco's 18
Lions Club 16
The first place Rocco's just squeezed by the Lions Club when they scored two runs in the top of the seventh to get another win.

Mike Herra and Chuck Duggan were both perfect on the night, with the former going 5-5 and the latter going 4-4.

Scott Aldrich (again?) and Bob Ducey had two hits each and six RBI's between the twosome.

Modified Division
Mercuri CPA 13
Mc Tire 6

Derek LeBlanc went deep twice for Mercuri's and they went on to beat Mc Tire by a score of 13-6 in the Modified Division.

Chris Hinxman was 2-2 and also pitched well for the winning team.

Mike King (3-4) and Mark Bobek (2-4) were key performers in the losing cause.

Pizza Mia/Roger Radiator 12
Mc Hugh Tile 3

Bobby Aprile supplied the solid pitching and Mike Herra supplied the offense as they cruised past Mc Hugh Tile by a score of 12-3.

Aprile went the distance while Herra had a 3-3 night at the plate.

3 Sons Contracting 9
Leavitt/Miceli 3

3 Sons Contracting was able to pull out a big upset as they beat the number one seed Leavitt/Miceli by a score of 9-3.

Artie Bibeau and John Blaisdell had two hits each for the winning effort with the former blasting a tatter.

Summer ending, football season beginning

First Inning

Well the hot summer days are flashing by before our own eyes and before we know it September will be here. That is good news if you don't like the heat.

First of all, there is just few more weeks until Labor Day weekend, were Wilmington and Tewksbury will host the first Mens Major Modified Fast pitch National Softball Tournament here in Massachusetts. If you like softball

For Wilmington, they should improve from last year. Even though they lost a few caliber players in Bryon Burke, Dave Fleming, Eric Robbins and Dave Maglio to name a few, they should turn a few things around this year with the likes of Steve O'Neill, Billy Harrison, Jack Warford, Phil Ritucci and Bobby Kelly to name a few.

As for Tewksbury, they lost a lot of key players from last year's squad. From the rocket arm of Christopher will show off their moves as the running back and wide reciever, respectively for the Redmen.

Before you know it, the annual Thanksgiving classic could be here and hopefully this will not mark the last one.

Third Inning

By the way, for you hoop fans, you missed a great game on Tuesday night at WHS.

Its safe to say that Kevin Murray, a WHS graduate from 1992 had no idea what a basketball was before he took on fellow Wilmington Basketball star and classmate Greg Maiella.

Before the game started Maiella said he would beat Murray in a fun game, any night while giving him eight points, with the game going up to eleven, with the winner having to win by two points. That's the way the game ended up only in Murray's direction as he went on to beat Maiella by a score of 11-9.

Great game guys, when is round two?

Pote's Chatter - box

by James Pote

Aprile Filed, WHS, Glen Road and Livingstone Park are the places you should be that weekend.

Second Inning

With Baseball appearing to be going on strike that means Football will also be here in September. For the Patriots, I see them going 7-9, while captains of the respective high school teams are already getting the underclassmen in shape during captains practices.

Chris Snow as quarterback to reciever Matt Kenny to defensive specialists Brian Donoghue and Mel Santos the Redmen have lost a few great gems.

However, they have many great and upcoming players which will put them into winning contention once again. Mike Torode will presumably take over as Quarterback, while Alex Adorno and Ben Justin Harrison just missed a pitch during the Wilmington's nine and ten year old Baseball team who took on Dracut and lost by a score of 6-5.

Firestone passes Dracut, 6-5

The Wilmington nine year old Travel Team sponsored by Firestone opened up the second round of the Bay State Baseball Tournament with a win over Dracut by a score of 6-5.

Wilmington had a 3-0 lead after one inning as Kyle Burns drove in two of the runs with a double and he then scored on his solid hustle.

They added another run in the second inning as Pat Cushing scored on an RBI single hit by Craig Osgood.

Defensively Wilmington played a great game in the field. Fine plays were made by David Rappoli, Casey Duggan and Craig Osgood, who made a nice catch in right field.

Also David Rappoli pitched Wilmington out of a bases loaded - no out situation getting the first batter to ground the ball to third baseman Justin Harrison who threw the runner out at the plate. Rappoli then struck out the next two batters.

The team jumped to 2 and 0 in the second round of the Bay State Tournament, beating Burlington 1-0 at Burlington.

Wilmington opened up the first inning with three runs. Chris Isberg batted in two of the runs scoring Kyle Burns and Pat Cushing.

The second inning Wilmington scored seven runs as they batted around the order. James O'Neil and Tim Rose played a great game by putting the bat on the ball and aggressive base running.

Defensively Craig Osgood and Charlie Redmond made nice catches out in centerfield and Pat Cushing threw to the catcher Kyle Burns to gun down a runner trying to score from third base.

David Rappoli closed the game with great pitching striking out two batters and fielding a ground ball to throw a batter out at first base.

The team improved its record to 3 and 0 by beating East Cambridge 14-1. Wilmington played great defensively as Charlie Redmond and Ryan Gaudet made great catches in the field. Justin Harrison pitched three innings and had six strikeouts. Jason Riley pitched great also making East Cambridge ground out to third base and shortstop to secure the win for Wilmington.

Billy Sinopoli and Casey Duggan had a good game offensively by being aggressive on the bases and scoring three of the 14 runs for Wilmington.

The team made it four wins to no losses by beating Stoneham 6-1 at Stoneham. Pat Cushing pitched four innings giving up only three hits and striking out five batters. David Rappoli pitched two inning, no runs, one hit and three strikeouts to secure the win.

Defensively Billy Sinopoli made a nice catch in left field and James O'Neil made a couple of nice plays at second base. Offensively Pat Cushing and Jason Riley hit the ball hard for doubles. Ryan Gaudet also had an RBI single in this game.

Lowell National Historical Park is currently seeking volunteers for a variety of positions. Interested individuals can help the park by:

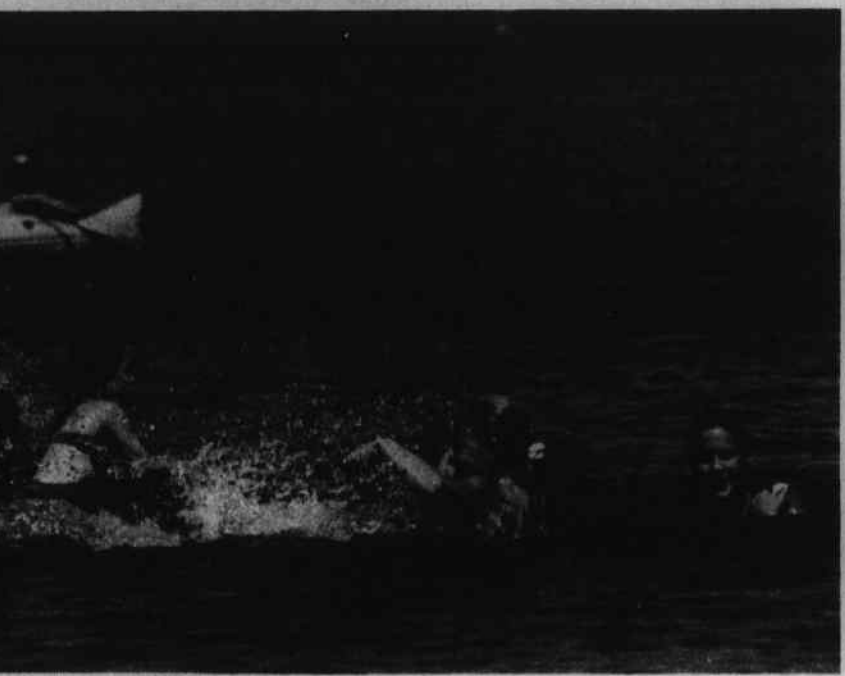

Staffing visitor information desks; helping to maintain the park library; guiding visitors through the exhibits and on tours; helping keep historic structures and grounds clean; sharing their knowledge of Lowell and its history; assisting with administrative and clerical duties; assisting with computer operations; taking pictures.

Volunteer positions at Lowell National Historical Park are tailored to both the park's needs and the interests and availability of each volunteer. Training is provided.

Some volunteer jobs require specific schedules, while others can be done at the volunteer's convenience. Many volunteers work one day a week, while others work nearly full time. Others volunteer as a group for a specific project.

The amount of time given is up to the volunteer, as long as it meets the needs of the position selected. Volunteers are needed throughout the year. "Volunteers perform an invaluable service to the park," noted Superintendent Rich Rambur. "They are a welcome addition to the Lowell National Historical Park family."

To volunteer or for information call 970-5000.

Swim Program

The Merrimack Valley Pirate swim team is offering a one week pre-competitive program, Aug. 29 through Sept. 2 for boys and girls 6-14 who think they would like to be on a swim team.

Coach Mike Spring commented that many children coming off a successful summer swim program are eager to take the next step in competitive swimming.

This five day orientation program will check skills, evaluate strokes, work stroke technique and help swimmers decide whether they want to try out for a competitive program.

Interested families should report to the Greater Lawrence Technical School pool, 57 River Rd., Andover at 4 p.m. Monday, Aug. 29.

IT'S IN THE BAG
Judging by the car buying public's preference for automobiles equipped with air bags, it may be assumed that these safety devices are perceived as being quite effective in preventing injury and saving lives. Data released by the Insurance Institute for Highway Safety (IIHS) bears witness to the presumption of air bag effectiveness. Based on studies of about 18,000 driver crash deaths between 1985 and 1992, researchers found 24 percent fewer deaths than expected in front and front angle crashes involving cars equipped with air bags. Even though air bags are designed for protection of front end crashes, they yielded a 16 percent reduction in fatalities in crashes of all kinds. These lives saved by air bags are over and above the lives already saved by seat belt use.

Considering the safety record of air bags, it may be wise to make sure they're an option when it comes time to purchase your next vehicle. If you have further questions, ask the experienced technicians at BOUDREAU'S AUTOMOTIVE SERVICE CENTER. We're committed to the highest standard of service for our customers. by Edward H. Wilkens

IS IT REALLY "ALL RISK"?

QUESTION: Is it true that the comprehensive form of homeowners insurance covers every conceivable risk?

ANSWER: Let's be serious. Of the three forms of homeowners insurance — basic, broad and comprehensive — comprehensive covers the broadest range of risks. It covers all of the risks of the first two and many others.

Instead of, "all risk", it probably should be called "most risk protection." The comprehensive policy will state specifically what is NOT covered (excluded), such as flood and earthquake coverage. If the risk is not specifically excluded in the policy, it is covered.

READ YOUR POLICY carefully so you'll know what it covers and what it doesn't cover.

Hockey season about to begin

by Donnie Ahern

This year's Wilmington Adult Hockey league is about to start with a new and exciting atmosphere for those over 30 years of age. The league will run somewhat the same as last year. However, there are a few changes in the head office.

Butch Fonzi will run the operations for the league and games will be played on Thursday and Friday nights with one team being replaced from last year's. The league will now have eight teams, which equals 30 games and also includes playoffs for those teams who finish in the top four spots.

The summer rumor has it that team manager of the "Outlaws", Gregg Roberts, attempted to trade the rights of forward, Eric "Stump", Murray for possibly a good player or even a box of hockey tape. Neither one was available for comment.

There was one signing over the summer which certainly made one team captain very happy, however that person will remain nameless for now.

A "Hubie Baker Award", winner is now playing in the league so that team should certainly make quite an impact in the league this year.

The first face off is scheduled for September 8th and everyone is expecting this year to be as fun as the previous years.

Good luck everyone (you will need it)

Field Hockey officials clinic

A field hockey officials training clinic will be held from 6:30 to 9 p.m., August 18, 23, 25, 30 and Sept. 1 at Melrose Public Library.

Sponsored by the Middlesex Board of Officials, with head clinician Patti Rowe, the clinic will cost $65 per participant. The fee includes field work, training manual, rulebook, rating tests and a whistle.

Wind shear and boating a scary mix

by Bill Conlon

Not too long ago we discussed the wonders of lightning, a brilliant but dangerous summer phenomenon.

Ah, but there are other monsters in the clouds! New England gets its share of severe weather, and it pays to know what is happening above.

No matter what the forecast, any storm can be more severe than the forecaster says it will be. Take, for example, that recent storm in New Hampshire, up in the lakes region.

A swath of trees some five miles long by a mile wide was flattened, houses damaged too, by an intense windstorm. The forecast had called for only a thunderstorm.

What gives?

When a thunderstorm forms, a column of warm air rises. But what happens to the air displaced by that rising column? Aha! That displaced air often drops, at high velocity, in a phenomenon pilots know and fear as "Wind Shear." New Hampshire was apparently struck by a gust of wind shear, no warning. Sorry.

Picture what would happen if you were out in a boat in that. No fun! Head to shore when a thunderstorm forms, because you can't know the evils lurking in the clouds.

Another occasional (for us) nasty in a thunderstorm is a tornado. The U.S. has the world market cornered on land-based tornadoes, but most of them touch down in the midwest, in so-called "Tornado Alley."

Scientists are still trying to get a grip on what causes tornadoes, but suffice to say that they happen. We don't get many around here, but we get a few, and occasionally we get a real killer. The Worcester Tornado of 1957 comes to mind. Bad stuff!

Luckily, tornado activity appears on radar screens with a "fishhook" shape. Keep the radio on and you should get warning if a twister is building up nearby. Hopefully. If it doesn't form too quickly.

Another unpleasantness that hides in a thunderstorm is hail. We don't get the monster hail that brutalizes the western states very often, but it does happen here. Getting caught in a flurry of golf balls falling out of the sky might sting a bit, you think? Again, don't stay out in the open if a thunderstorm whips up.

Another weather nightmare, one we haven't seen lately, is a severe hurricane. The last few 'canes to hit this area were duds, but ask an old-timer about the Hurricane of '38 or '55 or '56 if you want stories. Our luck can't last forever, and we are overdue for real bad one.

Fortunately, satellites keep track of approaching hurricanes, but eyes in the sky are new. Years ago, you had no warning -- zilch -- that a hurricane was bearing down. One minute you're having a nice, sunny picnic on the beach, and virtually an hour later the whole region is devastated. No warning. Sorry.

The sky is a constant show, never the same and never ending. Grand! But if the sky turns black and the wind whips up, seek cover. Getting caught in the middle of a lake, in a canoe, with wind and lightning and pounding hailstones, is a lousy way to spend a fishing trip. Take cover.

'Tis the season for Hunter Safety Courses, with two on tap nearby.

Tewksbury Rod & Gun will host a free hunter safety course starting September 1 and running for seven consecutive Thursdays, 7 to 9 p.m. Another Hunter Safety Course will be held at Methuen Rod & Gun on Tyler Street, 7 to 10 p.m., starting August 26 and running for the next six Friday nights.

PLANNING BOARD LEGAL NOTICE PUBLIC HEARING

More Wilmington Recreational activities to look forward to by Jerry Marone. In spite of the showers, the tots had a ball as usual. Wednesday evening the program had its annual Family Night celebration at the Shawsheen School.

This year featured a country hoe down with square dancing. Ray Aubut, our caller and music provider, did a great job getting everyone out dancing in spite of the extreme heat. The children had a chance to cool off Thursday, Wet and Wild Day, featuring sprinklers and a pool.

Playground update
Monday playgrounders went Hawaiian by making Aloha Leis with colored paper flowers and string.

Tuesday a group went on a field trip to Crane's Beach in Ipswich. The children were armed with pails and shovels which they used to build the Wilmington Rec Dept.'s entry in the Crane's Beach Sandcastle competition. This year, the children made a sand sculpture of the World Cup Mascot complete with soccer ball. Their hard work paid off when Wilmington was announced the winner of the Most Original Sculpture Award. After they were awarded their certificate, the children celebrated by taking a refreshing swim in the ocean. Exhausted and content, they returned to the playground.

Because of Wednesday's rain, both Sundae Day and the Four Square Tournament were held Thursday. The morning saw a lot of tough competition, but in the final round of play, Chuckie Courtois came in fourth place; Jack McDonough took third; Shawn Godding earned second and Josh Newhouse was first and became the new king of Four-Square.

After all the exercise, the children cooled off with sundaes made with delicious ice cream supplies by Tootsie's Kitchen in Wilmington. It was definitely a great way to end a hot day!

Friday's field trip to the Billerica Flick left everyone content. Some of the younger children enjoyed watching the magic of Disney's The Lion King, while others laughed at the wild antics of James Carrey in The Mask.

Helpers and volunteers at the playground have been indispensable. Scott Aldrich and Billy Cavanaugh, the Playgrounders of the Week (Aug. 1-5) have assisted all of the playground leaders in countless situations, making playground upkeep and organization much easier. And where would the leaders be without volunteers like Colleen Duggan and Megan Sullivan, also Volunteers of the Week? Well, let's just say that last week's volunteers have been responsible for many of the successful activities enjoyed by the playgrounders both this year and in past years.

Kausing komotion...

by Jeff Nazzaro
It's a cool summer's night at Boston's Faneuil Hall and the sounds are emanating out of every brick nook and cobblestone cranny in the ancient marketplace - the appreciative roar of a crowd as a juggler passes off another neat trick; a street actor deriving laughs from an off off-beat production; a man slapping syncopated rhythms on upturned plastic buckets while a classically trained quartet offers well-honed chamber music to the shoppers, diners, and tourists.

And in the midst of it all, right across from where legendary Boston Celtic boss Arnold "Red" Auerbach sits bronzed in immortality, a tonal taste of Ireland rings out.

The players are three kids from Wilmington: Grainne (pronounced Grahn-ya), Daniel, and Patrick Murphy, who live on Congress Street.

Grainne, 16, plays fiddle, and Patrick and Daniel, 12-year-old twins, play tin whistle and bodhran - a hand-held drum pronounced (bow-run) - respectively. Daniel also plays the wooden flute, while Patrick will often accompany his siblings playing with Irish step dancing.

"Sometimes you get a pretty good crowd," Grainne said of Faneuil Hall. "They get into it."

"Getting into it" means clapping, foot stomping, and of course, placing bills and change into Grainne's fiddle case.

The kids are all accomplished musicians and together have won several awards at the New York Fleadh Cheoil, an annual contest featuring the best traditional Irish music in North America.

Daniel, in his age group, has won the bodhran competition there the last four years in a row, while placing second in the wooden flute competition the last two. At this year's Fleadh Cheoil, he also took first in the tin whistle slow airs competition, first in the wooden flute slow airs, first in duets with Patrick playing whistle to his flute, and first place in lilt.

Lilting, which Daniel's brother and sister say is only for the best musicians, is Irish rhythm making with the mouth - done when musicians couldn't afford instruments. Daniel declined, despite the prodding of Grainne and Patrick, to demonstrate his award-winning lilting technique.

Though they don't lilt, Grainne and Patrick are no slouches at their respective instruments, either.

Patrick has taken third and most recently second place for the tin whistle in New York, while last year finishing third in his first bodhran try. He and Daniel have also finished first the last two years in duets.

Grainne is a five-year veteran of the New York Fleadh Cheoil, and finishing second and first in fiddle and slow airs fiddle, respectively in her first three tries, and second in fiddle this year. Last year at New York she took first place with her brothers in the trio competition, the only event she competed in.

All three kids have also competed in the prestigious All-Ireland Fleadh Cheoil, held in August, though they are skipping this year's for their Boston street performing gigs.

Two summers ago, Grainne placed third in the fiddle competition in Ireland, a remarkable feat for the Fleadh Cheoil competed in by musicians from around the world but usually dominated by Irish natives.

But even there, the Keltic Kids have some advantage, as the three are Irish as well as American citizens.

In the New World, their career as Irish folk performers is flourishing. In addition to their Faneuil Hall dates, the trio will be performing in several New England folk festivals.

They have also been videotaped for two documentaries focusing on Irish music and attractions in and around Boston and have recently been awarded a grant from the Lowell Arts Council for production of their first audio tape (and possibly CD).

The recording will feature Grainne on the fiddle, Patrick on the whistle, and Daniel on the bodhran and flute. The kids are also thinking of bringing in a dulcimer player and possibly a pianist. The sessions, to be recorded in Concord, Mass., will produce a variety of material the Keltic Kids hope to have ready by Christmas.

But they're not just musicians. Talented youngsters Daniel and Patrick, when they're not studying at the Pike School in Andover, play soccer and take karate.

Grainne, a junior-to-be at Andover's Phillips Academy is available for violin lessons at her parents' Wilmington home.

The sophisticated 16-year-old is classically trained, but prefers traditional Irish folk music because, she says, "it is freer, you can have your own style; you can put your own accents into it."

The Keltic Kids are available to perform for all occasions, and have done so for birthday parties, retirement homes, and public schools. Interested parties should call Dan Murphy at 657-5486.

Or, if you're going to be at Faneuil Hall, look for Wilmington's Keltic Kids playing across from Red Auerbach. They'll be there Sunday, August 14 from 5 to 7; Thursday, August 18 from 7 to 9; Sunday, August 21 from 7 to 9; and Saturday, August 27 from 5 to 7.

"Bug songs" program for children at Ipswich River Wildlife Sanctuary

Mass. Audubon Society's Ipswich River Wildlife Sanctuary in Topsfield is offering a program on bug songs for children eight to 10 Saturday, August 20 (Raindate Sunday, Aug. 21) from 2 to 4 p.m. The buzzes, clicks, chirps and rasps of insects may not be as melodious as the tones produced by birds, but they are among the most memorable sounds of summer. In this activity oriented program, children will explore the world of insects to discover how these sounds are made and who's making them. We'll also trek into the Sanctuary to "listen in on nature," hear a six legged symphony, or perhaps eavesdrop on an insect conversation!

Preregistration is required. Fee, $8 ($6 Mass Audubon members). For more information call 508-887-9264.

McDonald's Reading

New playground has town in a tizzy

By KEN MAGUIRE

Does the brand new playground in front of the McDonald's restaurant on Main Street in Reading deserve a break today? Some say yes, others no. Welcome to the Great Playground Debate.

Though playgrounds are synonymous with fun, this debate is no laughing matter for members of the Reading community and McDonald's of Reading. And were it not for other building alterations at the restaurant, the playground would not even be embroiled in current legal discussions between town officials and McDonald's.

Some residents have deemed the playground - in politically correct terms - "aesthetically challenged" (see accompanying photo, taken Sunday, August 7, to make your own decision). Town Planner Jonathan Edwards visited the restaurant to see for himself after receiving many complaints.

At the restaurant, Edwards noticed the construction of a nine-foot extension at the front of the building. He did not recall seeing a site plan review application for the overall plans and decided to investigate further.

In addition to the nine-foot extension and the playground alterations, the bathrooms were being renovated for handicap accessibility. Since the total "alterations and expansion" were in excess of 300 square-feet, the plans should have been subject to a site plan review by the town's Community Planning and Development Commission (CPDC).

"They're claiming they're not subject to site plan review and were claiming that they are, but it's the decision of the CPDC," Edwards said.

A site plan review was never conducted, so, on Tuesday, August 2, Building Inspector Glen Redmond issued a "stop-work" order. Back on December 16, 1993, the town's previous building inspector had issued a building permit for the frontal extension and the bathroom renovations. A second building permit was issued in early January for the playground alterations. In total, the changes were in excess of 300 square-feet.

"A site plan review should have been required back in December," Edwards said, adding that the initial building permits should not have been issued without the review. He also said McDonald's should have submitted a site plan review application back in December.

"That was (the franchise owner's) legal obligation to do that," Edwards said. "If you are engaging in a business involving real estate, you're required to know the law."

Edwards, Redmond and Reading's town counsel, Ted Cohen, have agreed that the site plan review is necessary. In response to their decisions and the "stop-work" order, McDonald's has applied for both a site plan review exemption and a site plan review waiver. The issue goes before the CPDC on August 22 at 9:30 p.m.

The CPDC's options are: approve the site plan review exemption or waiver and allow construction to resume; approve a waiver with conditions; or refuse the waiver and call for a full review.

The legal counsel of McDonald's, Wilmington attorney Alan Altman, said his client has complied with all town laws and is working with town officials toward an amicable solution. "They are attempting to be good neighbors in the town of Reading," he said.

Aesthetics

Had McDonald's sought a building permit for only the playground, whose alterations by themselves do not exceed 300 square-feet, Readingites would be forced to put up with the new look of the playground. But, with a CPDC site plan review looming, aesthetics may come into play.

The site plan review, Edwards explained, is "to make sure private action can be reviewed in the interest of the public." Issues such as traffic, abutters, landscaping, "signage" and yes, aesthetics are among the factors discussed in a site plan review.

So what's all the fuss about anyway?

Reading resident Alan Bond, in a letter to the Reading Chronicle, called the playground "outrageous." He wrote, "Some of us in Reading, if not many, are hopeful that Main Street will eventually become more attractive by becoming less cluttered. McDonald's obviously has little concern for aesthetics."

Up Rte. 28 a few miles is the site of another recent debate. A new playground in front of a McDonald's Reading S-4

THE McDONALD'S PLAYGROUND in Reading has stirred up a hornets nest among residents. Some folks think it's downright ugly, while others feel it's good for their kids. (Don Young photo)

Circus city open soon

It's a family affair - get your tickets now

Vidbel's Olde Tyme Circus is on its way to town, complete with the Svenssons Bareback Riding Troupe, the feature act of the 1991 and 1992 Big Apple Circus.

Reading Rotary has announced that tickets are on sale for the 5:30 p.m. and 8 p.m. August 16th performances at the Reading High field on Oakland Road - look for the red and white big top and hundreds of happy faces. Advance tickets - $5 for children and adults - are available at Johnson's Hardware, the Reading Public Library and the Reading Cooperative Bank.

Tickets for the performances will be $7 for adults and $6 for children. Profits will go to various Reading Rotary projects. For more information, call (617)944-7002.

Take a deep breath and count the days until ...

Monday, August 15th when Burlington Mall becomes smoke-free.

Par for the course?

Play at Stoneham's new par three golf course is improving, according to the "Stoneham Independent," but the original revenue projections for Stoneham Oaks, a nine-hole course behind Stoneham Arena on Montvale Ave., are not quite up to par.

The $30,000 in revenue per month, foreseen by Stoneham Town Administrator Jeffrey Nutting, was on target during the first three months of operation but after an examination of the high number of out-of-towners using the course and the level of players, Nutting and Unicorn Golf Pro Paul Munro believe the fall months may average only $20,000.

The overall revenue projection has been accordingly adjusted to between $200,000 and $240,000.

Residents pay $8 during the week; nonresidents, $9. On weekends, residents pay $9 while nonresidents pay $11.

It is believed that the $40,000 projection decrease will be made up at the Stoneham Arena which had one of its most profitable seasons in recent history.

That's the Stoneham Arena on Nancy Kerrigan Way.

The water watch is on

Reading water department officials report that thanks to cooperation on the part of citizens - and daily patrols by police and the officials themselves - compliance with the town's outdoor water use restrictions is improving.

In June and July, the water treatment plant was working full-time in an effort to keep up with an average 2.5 million gallons of water per day. Ideally, officials feel that overall usage should not exceed two million gallons per day.

According to DPW Director Ted McIntire, most people are complying with the restrictions, which include a Sunday ban on outdoor water use.

According to Water Plant Supervisor Peter Tassi in the Reading edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle," this situation benefits everyone: less usage means savings in water bills, safe levels of town water for emergencies and less wear and tear on the water plant equipment which is not designed to run constantly at peak capacity.

Five of Reading's nine wells have been closed since a tanker gas spill on Rte. 93 almost two years ago and although Cumberland Farms has hired an environmental firm to handle the cleanup, the end is not in sight.

Area "seascape" is in the works

Reading's Quannapowitt

Players invite area residents to "open auditions" on Sunday, August 28th at 6 p.m. and Tuesday, August 30th at 7:30 p.m. for Edward Albee's "Seascape," directed by Donna Corbett. The play will run from November 18th through December 10th. For more information, call (617) 245-0871 or (617) 387-5298.

A LOOK AT LIFE INSURANCE TRUSTS

Life insurance can be an effective means of providing financial security to your family in the event of your untimely death, but did you know that the government could take half of your life insurance proceeds for estate taxes?

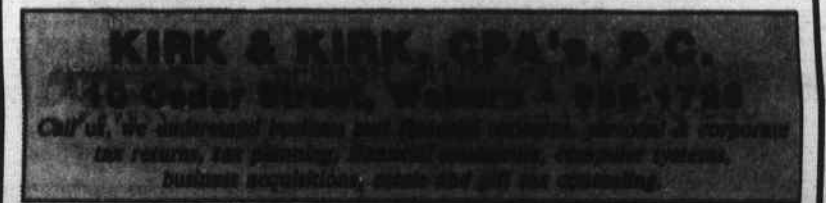

One way to minimize estate taxes on life insurance is through an irrevocable life insurance trust. Properly planned and executed, a life insurance trust can shield your insurance proceeds from estate taxation, probate costs, and creditors.

Here's how it works: You sign a trust agreement authorizing a trustee to purchase or hold life insurance on your life. The trust instrument makes it clear that you don't have any control over the policy. You can't borrow from the policy, change the beneficiaries, or instruct the trustee to use the life insurance to pay estate taxes. The trust instrument can direct the trustee on accumulating assets and making distributions to beneficiaries.

To fund the trust, you can transfer an existing policy. However, a special rule says that if you die within three years of the transfer, your estate will still be taxed on the policy proceeds. In addition, you may owe a gift tax based on the cash surrender value of the policy.

Another method of funding the trust is to make annual gifts of money to the trust which the trustee uses to pay the life insurance premiums. This funding method can be arranged to qualify for the annual $10,000 gift tax exclusion.

Although life insurance trusts can provide significant tax savings, their administration costs can be high, and you must permanently give away all "incidents of ownership." Before adopting a life insurance trust, you must carefully weigh the pros and cons. Call if we can be of assistance.

McDonald's Reading

From S-1

McDonald's in North Reading was called a "red and purple hemorrhoid" by a letter writer in the North Reading Transcript. In response, the restaurant placed the man's name on its marquee, telling him his next meal there will be a free one.

Back in Reading, Philip Tackett, a Pennsylvania resident on vacation in the area with his family, knew nothing of the playground furor when he stopped in to McDonald's for lunch on Tuesday afternoon.

"I'm a little surprised it's out near the road like that," said Tackett, a teacher by trade. Pausing for a second look, he added, "It is pretty grotesque."

Kids like it

Proponents of the playground at the Reading McDonald's say the restaurant is for kids in the first place, and if they like the playground, who cares what it looks like.

"My kid rode by it one his bike and said 'Wow, that's awesome,'" said a Reading parent at McDonald's this week. "Just because some people don't like it, doesn't mean everyone agrees. Everybody's got an opinion." She summed up, "If my kids like it, I like it."

Other residents defend McDonald's because the restaurant has been a steady contributor to the community.

"They'll help you out any way they can," said a North Reading town official who is familiar with both the North Reading and Reading restaurants and asked not to be named. "Just because some people don't like the way it looks, they get hammered for it."

McDonald's has supported fundraising efforts in both towns and is always willing to donate jugs, juice and cups for community events.

Amid the debate, Phil Tackett, the Pennsylvania man, noted, "It's nice to know that people still care about how their town looks."

Fast food for thought: A McDonald's in southern Florida recently tore down the playground in front of its building and replaced it with a shuffleboard court.

Visiting Nurses home visits increase

Recently, Visiting Nurse Association of Middlesex-East's Executive Director/CEO, Jacquelyn Galluzzi and Board President, John MacDonnell, held the annual VNA meeting and announced that home health care visits were up by an unprecedented 41% in 1993.

Galluzzi and MacDonnell attributed this tremendous growth to three very important factors. Hospitals are now discharging patients sooner in more critical conditions producing a greater need for services. In addition the escalating elderly population has created the need for more support services in the home for both the patient and their families.

Lastly, the demand for more specialized and highly technical care has required the agency to broaden their scope of services. Galluzzi expressed, "These developments in the home health care industry pose great challenges to community organizations like ours, and we have had to work exceptionally hard to deal with these challenges."

MacDonnell pointed to three steps the agency has taken to meet these challenges. "We have increased our staff in all departments to meet the growing number of patients and their needs, in fact, in 1993 we went from 100 to 170 employees. We also went through Blue Cross and Medicare certification with our Hospice program, which can now offer patients payment for crucial medical equipment such as walkers, as well as medicines, thus saving their families additional costs. In addition the Psychiatric Nursing Department developed a Geriatric Psychiatric Counseling Program."

In 1993 VNA of Middlesex-

East made 65,000 home care visits and the agency was able to provide over $117,000 worth of free care to people in need. MacDonnell stated, "Only by conducting vigorous fundraising campaigns that were very well received by the communities we serve were we able to provide this free care."

"One event that was fun and very successful was our first annual auction," said Galluzzi. "In fact, it was so well received we are planning to hold our second annual auction in early October."

MacDonnell expressed "Community support is what keeps us going and gives the agency the ability to provide services to all people regardless of their ability to pay." Galluzzi summed up the meeting by saying, "Above all, our primary goal is and always will be, delivering compassionate and quality care to our patients. Board members that were elected for the coming term include:

• John MacDonnell of Reading, Executive Director of the Lynnfield Housing Authority, was re-elected President;

• Jackie Maher of Wakefield, Branch Manager of the Savings Bank, Greenwood office, was re-elected Vice President;

• S. Doreen Rosenzweig of Melrose, Personnel Director, WR Grace, was re-elected to the Personnel Committee.

MVNA offers dinner out with free babysitting

As mothers of young children, Debra Moore and Cindy Neville, both of Melrose, are more apt to give time outs than to receive them.

But both moms will enjoy some time out for themselves, thanks to the Melrose-area Visiting Nurse Service, 50 Tremont St., and two area restaurants. Each woman has won a $25 gift certificate, one courtesy of Wakefield's Restaurant in Wakefield and one courtesy of Le Metro Cafe in Reading, plus babysitting - with a stipend ($20) for a babysitter or the service of a MVNS maternal-child health aide.

"M.E.'s for You"

Moore will dine at Le Metro Cafe. At historic Reading depot, Le Metro Cafe serves weekday morning coffee and pastries, lunch Monday through Saturday, dinner - now Monday through Sunday, and Sunday brunch.

In addition to well child care and support for families, the Melrose-area Visiting Nurse Service, a non-profit community agency, continues to make "house calls," as the agency has for 70 years, in Melrose and more than 10 surrounding communities. The agency provides short and long-term nursing, physical, occupational and speech therapy, social work, nutrition and certified home health aide services to its clients in their homes. For more information call the agency at (617) 665-4800.

VOLUNTEERS NEEDED FOR MDA

The King's Grant Inn will host the annual Stars Across America Labor Day Weekend MDA Pledge Center. The Muscular Dystrophy Association is seeking volunteers for a variety of shifts to assist with answering the phones, tabulating and preparing the pledges for the mail.

Training will be provided to all volunteers. The Telethon will be aired on WCVB-TV, Channel 5 from 9 p.m. on Sunday, September 4th through 6:30 p.m. on Monday, September 5th.

They are also seeking volunteers to help with games at the fair and auction to be held on Monday, September 5th from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., also at the King's Grant Inn in Danvers.

Anyone interested in volunteering for either location can call the MDA office at (508) 777-0333.

FINALLY, THE END OF THE LINE!

A&D Toy and Train Museum will close its doors forever. Labor Day, September 5, will be the last day. The air-conditioned museum and the adjacent Fun Park, with its activities for children, will be open every day until the end from 11 a.m. until 5 p.m.

Several people inquired what happened, since the museum had closed once before, on January 6, 1991. The story is very simple. At the time of the first closing, there were many prospects for buying either the museum or the contents. After many negotiations, however, absolutely nothing happened. And, unfortunately, the expenses for operating the building, continued in an upward spiral. With no income whatsoever, it was no wonder that the owner's "nest-egg" was soon gone. Hence, the decision to re-open the museum.

New problems came up: the weather behaved like a major enemy. Two very bad winters in a row, with snow storms on weekends, just the days the museum could afford to open. And last summer was a record-hot season.

The A&D Toy and Train Museum is located at 49 Plymouth Street, North Middleboro, off Routes 18/28, just two miles north of the Middleboro rotary (Jcts. 18, 28, 44) adjacent to exits 5 and 6 off Routes 495/25 on the way to or from Cape Cod. For more information call (508) 947-5303. Admissions are $5 for adults, $4.50 for seniors, and $4 for children 4 through 12. Youngsters under 3 are free. There is no extra charge for the Fun Park, but a valid ticket is required to enter.

VOLUNTEER OPPORTUNITIES AT NEMH

New England Memorial Hospital is looking for volunteers to staff the evening and weekend shift in the newly renovated Woodland Gift Shoppe.

Volunteers for these areas should be friendly, personable and enjoy interacting with a diverse population. For more information about this and other volunteer opportunities at the hospital, call Karen Derro, Director of Volunteer Services at (617) 979-7165.

WENHAM MUSEUM CRAFT FAIR

The 22nd Annual Craft Fair at Wenham Museum will be held on Saturday, August 20, from 10 to 5 p.m. Over 50 juried craftsmen will offer pottery, soft sculpture, decorative painting, quilting, jewelry of all kinds, carved birds, glass, decoupage, folk art, beeswax candles, dolls, dried flowers, herbs, applique, clothing, wrought iron, baskets, weaving, beachstone animals, wooden toys and games.

Plant and gourmet food tables as well as a snack bar will be open all day. The price is adults $1, 3-14, 25¢.

The location is at 132 Main St. (Rte. 1A) in center of Wenham (Exit 20A off Rte. 128 north). Call (508) 468-2377 for information.

Fruitlands is located 30 miles west of Boston, six miles west of the junction of Route 495 and Route 2. Take the first right and follow Old Shirley Road for two miles to the gates of Fruitlands Museums.

Admission: Adults $6, children $2.50.

Rehearsals are on Wednesday nights in West Medford. Concerts are planned for December and May.

STATE SPONSORED BOWHUNTING SEMINAR

A free Bowhunting Seminar will be held for nine hours on August 20 at the Woburn Sportsmen Club, 155 Middlesex Turnpike, Billerica. The class starts at 8 a.m. Pre-registration is required by calling Paul Deeney at (617) 663-4050. Those attending are asked to bring their bows and arrows if they have them. The program is presented by volunteer instructors of the Massachusetts Hunter Education Program for both the experienced and novice hunter. Among topics covered will be hunter safety, selection of equipment, game preparation, and hunting methods, including tracking.

Each course graduate receives a state Bowhunter

School Notes

by Phyllis Nissen

Wakefield High has new principal

And this is how to spell 'Struminski'

"We have a new leader to take this school to the prominence it has experienced in the past," says Wakefield Superintendent of Schools Terry Holmes in the Wakefield edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

That leader is the recently named principal of Wakefield High and his name is Ronald Struminski, until these past weeks the Housemaster at Attleboro High.

The decision, according to Holmes in the "Chronicle," was difficult in light of the fact that the acting principal since January, Joseph Sullivan, was one of the finalists, who also included Eileen Erwin, present principal of Kennett Junior-Senior High in North Conway, New Hampshire and Henry Dembowski, immediate past Superintendent of Schools for the Pentucket Regional School District in West Newbury.

Holmes made the appointment with the input of Assistant Superintendent Marge McGrath, Galvin Junior High Principal John Sardella, Business Manager Richard Barker, and elementary school principals James Boyd and Karen Callan.

Reading students are reading

More than 200 Reading students have joined "Readers of the Lost Book," the Reading Public Library's Young Adult Summer Reading Program, and many more are expected to apply for their "passports to adventure" in time for the August 23rd "cliffhanger auction" and pizza party.

Those involved in the planning and the pursuit term the program a 'gem.' Literally. Through a variety of activities, students have been earning gems worth auction dollars toward a number of items yet to be announced.

Participating students live in or attend school in Reading and must be incoming sixth graders at least. Gems may be earned in the following ways: through the books students choose, Infoquest gems or the Create Your Own Adventure Treasure Hunt.

Infoquest, for example, involves answering a series of questions which take students on journeys into the hidden recesses of the information jungle. Each week students find questions related to real life adventure; and on Tuesdays, they appear at the library with their solutions.

John Burns: the bottom line - actually the last paragraphs

If you thought last week's feature on retiring but not that shy Reading teacher and Stoneham native John Burns stopped just short of a goal and slightly ahead of where it should have ended, you were right.

What with dead lines, live wires, thunderstorms in the area, and all, we haven't checked to see whether those paragraphs appear in mid-article - we're sure some of our more careful readers will fax us immediately if we're saying the wrong thing. Meanwhile, the final 'graphs on Burns went something like this - if you were satisfied with last week's finish, skip right ahead to next week's "Notes":

Although these days, it is significant that Burns has six children "all of whom are now married" and none of whom have returned to live in the comfort of their parents' home, that was not the ending we anticipated.

Burns and his wife, as noted in the original article, will enter the retirement arena (this, in subtle reference to his passion for hockey) in September with a trip to Germany - but his heart will remain at Coolidge Middle School in Reading and anywhere the Montreal Canadiens might appear.

"I always kid the kids about the Montreal Canadiens being so much better than the Bruins," he says. "Every kid I've ever had in school knows I'm a Montreal hockey fan. They tease me a lot about it especially when the Bruins beat the

WEDNESDAY/THURSDAY, AUGUST 10, 11, 1994-PAGE S-7

Canadiens this year. It's a going thing.

"It's intentional on my part because it brings us closer together."

If you'd like to read about your favorite school, student or teacher in "School Notes," please send school newsletters and other relevant information to Phyllis Nissen, "School Notes," Middlesex East Supplement, Box 240, Reading, MA 01867.

Woodchips

ANTHONY MANCONI

I stopped to watch an artist paint a portrait of a man's face from a small photograph. I turned to my cousin, Angelo Quaganti, and said, "Look, this artist has amazing talent." "What's so great about that?" Angelo exclaimed, "I paint people too." "I didn't know that," I replied, "where can your artistic work be seen?" "In many buildings. I paint 'MEN' on one door and 'WOMEN' on another door. My brother Michael is an artist too. He paints up in the hunting lodge in Maine. He paints 'POINTERS' on one door and 'SETTERS' on another door."

Willie Cobb said to me, "Chipper, I never believed in reincarnation until I saw so many of my workers come back to life when the five o'clock whistle blew."... George Hill said, "I don't know why we pay men more to pour cement than we pay teachers to mold minds."... Folks, if we look like our passport pictures, boy oh boy, do we ever need a vacation!

Kathy went to the beauty parlor to have her face lifted. The best they could do for her was lower her body two inches... Paul Rao told a vacuum cleaner salesman that he didn't need to buy a vacuum cleaner. The salesman replied, "Well, the Woodchipper, who lives next door, told me that he has been borrowing your vacuum cleaner for the last two years and it's about time that you bought a new one!"

I was invited to a nudist wedding but I didn't have a thing to wear... By the way, I've always wondered - where does a nudist with a headcold keep his handkerchief?... A woman asked Jimmy Quinno, "Sir, can you tell me where Main Street is?" "I'm standing on it," Jimmy replied. "Oh!" she exclaimed, "No wonder I couldn't find it!"

Folks, "So many gods, so many creeds, so many paths that wind and wind, when all this sad world needs is just the art of being 'KIND.'" Fr. Dennis Nason of Medford, while on vacation in New Hampshire, wanted to mail a post card to a friend. He asked a young man, "Can you tell me where the post office is, lad?" After getting directions, Fr. Nason told the young man, "Come to church Sunday and I'll show you the way to Heaven." "I don't think so Rev. You didn't even know the way to the post office!"

PERSONALITY WINNERS: Capt. Dan Gately, Bud and Vie Spence, Sherman Graham, Ann Choquet, Erin Buckanan, Shelby Strafford and Jackie Young, all of WOBURN; Fr. Thomas Foley, Mary Furey, Dennis Rouleau, Kara McGillicuddy, Frank Micciche and Nancy Sullivan, all of WINCHESTER; Lynne Keating, Kevin McCoy, Gregg Moore, Happy 25th Wedding Anniversary to Bob and Rinda Taber, Stephen Tomasello, Sean O'Connor and Stacy MacCurtin, all of READING; Jennifer Murphy, MaryBeth LeTourrette, Catherine Cook, David Botros, Carol Crosby and Tina Braceland, all of BURLINGTON; Christopher Serino, Janice Camuso, John Fanikos, Maria Dellarocco, Mary Dimaria and John Casoli, all of WAKEFIELD; Mary McLaughlin, Melissa Benson, Eric Arria, Chris McCune, Jan Levine and Lee DeBell, all of STONEHAM; Jimmy Downs III, Tom Downs, Kerry McAuliffe, Brenda Jones, Kimberly White and Joan Marsi, all of WILMINGTON; Patricia Millward, Lee Hamilton, Eleanor Corey, Jeff Smith, Mike McLaughlin and my #1 fan Eddie Sargent, all of TEWKSBURY; Victor Fanikos, Jim Tracey, Tori and Alex Spence, Karol McLaughlin and Chief Paul Romano, all of LYNNFIELD.

Also, Eleanor Verrico, Stephanie Speers, Rev. Ken Caldbeck and his lovely wife Susan, Helen Cronje, Kieran J. Walsh and Paul Kennedy, all of NORTH READING; Anthony Loftus, Steve Kelly, David Froya, Dick Fopiano, Eddie Costello, Rose Mantia, Lee Miraglia, all of MEDFORD; Charles Waystack, Jr., Al Imerato, Joe and Cynthia Malta, Bobby and Linda Belmonte and David Blake, all of MALDEN; James Decroteau, Michael Nee, Rose Tenaglia, Neil and Nancy Collins, Jay Gubitose and Bill Gray, all of MELROSE.

Folks, I remember when my late Uncle John Shea came stumbling and weaving at two in the morning after his weekly night out with the boys at his favorite gin mill. My Aunt Nora (his wife) was waiting for him in front of the house. Just as he finished singing the second chorus of "Who put the overalls in Mrs. Murphy's chowder," Aunt Nora grabbed Uncle John's arm and marched him up a hill on the top of the street. She pointed to a building with the lights blazing away and smoke coming out of the chimney and shouted, "That's a brewery and they can make it faster than you can drink it!" Uncle John paused to steady himself then exclaimed, "Yes, dear, but I see I have them working nights!"

Mario DiMino of Stoneham had his annual physical last week. After the examination, Mario said to the doctor, "Doc, I don't gamble nor do I smoke, drink or chase women. How long can I expect to live?" The doctor smiled, put his hand on Mario's shoulder and asked, "WHAT for Mario?"... When my cousin Angelo Quaganti's daughter Janet got married to Bill

MOVIES

Clear and Present Danger, Short Takes

"Clear and Present Danger" Starring Harrison Ford, Willem Dafoe, Anne Archer, James Earl Jones. Directed by Phillip Noyce. Screenplay by Donald Stewart, Steven Zaillian, John Milius. Produced by Mace Neufeld, Robert Rehme. Based on the novel by Tom Clancy. Rated PG-13.

It's been a good summer for action movies and "Clear and Present Danger" doesn't break the cycle. The best adaptation of the three best-selling Tom Clancy books to feature Jack Ryan, it is a taut and intelligent yarn of stupidity and double-dealing at the highest government levels.

However, and this is important, you must pay attention. The plot is intricate and the movie is long. Actually, it's a bit too long. It does not, however, move beyond the realm of possibility. Much like actual government scandals, you have to watch those details.

Harrison Ford reprises the role of Ryan, last seen in "Patriot Games." (The role was first played by Alec Baldwin in "The Hunt for Red October," a thriller so convoluted it anesthetized audiences everywhere.) Phillip Noyce, on board for "Patriot Games" and last year's overblown "Sliver," does a masterful job of juggling characters and plot complications so that every detail in this espionage thriller is absolutely plausible.

Ryan, recently promoted from CIA analyst to deputy director of intelligence, discovers links between a government drug cartel and an influential pal of the President of the United States, played by Donald Moffat as an affable guy with convenient memory loss. When his pal and family are brutally murdered, the President angrily manipulates the CIA to take out the Colombia drug cartel responsible for the murders. This covert action is conveniently kept from Ryan's desk, as he is not considered to be a team player, actually why we like him.

With the exception of poor Anne Archer as Jack's wife, whose entire role consists of bucking up and being strong, the supporting roles in this film are well written and strongly performed. Every player in this revenge drama is clearly defined. William Dafoe, touselled and tanned, is a contract spook whose prickly performance is fueled by a profound lack of trust. The scenes between the mysterious Dafoe and the righteous Ford are among the best in the film, as each actor is in top form playing decent, angry men who refuse to be taken advantage of again.

James Earl Jones is touching and understated as Jack's ailing friend and boss. And keep an eye out for Henry Czerny, a Canadian actor making his American film debut. As a top CIA official with a sharp survival instinct and a hidden agenda, Czerny has a jangling, angry presence that commands your attention.

Still, it is Ford who really carries the movie, which would have been cold and unsympathetic without his unique brand of vulnerability. This guy is a card carrying good guy, but he is also sharply cognizant of the danger around him. He's nearly out of his league, and knows it, but Ford's Ryan also knows he has to be noble in a situation decayed with deception. That the heart of the movie is really about loyalty and honor, and Ford easily conveys those virtues, bring the story to life in a way other Clancy adaptations couldn't.

Short Takes

It Could Happen to You bubbles with good will and giggles. Nicolas Cage is an honest cop who hits the New York lottery and keeps his promise to tip a waitress half his winnings. Bridget Fonda is the kind-hearted working stiff who falls for the cop, even if he is married to shrewish (and funny) Rosie Perez. Almost too sentimental, but director Andrew Bergman manages to keep the treacle from spilling over. The result is one of those old-fashioned movies Hollywood supposedly doesn't make anymore. Rated PG. ***1/2

Airheads shouldn't work for many reasons, not the least of which is a derivative plot and a predictable ending. But there is something endearing about three idiot rock star wannabees who hold a radio station hostage in order to have their demo tape played. Brendan Fraser, Steve Buscemi and Adam Sandler are likable as the dim but determined rockers. Too bad the movie didn't take a harder edge, less pandering and more skewing of the music industry would have been welcome. Rated PG-13. **1/2

The Mask is worth seeing just for the special effects. Luckily, it also has a decent plot and some laughs as the ever-limber Jim Carrey transforms his life from dull beige to hot neon after donning a powerful mask. Instead of your usual super-hero, Carrey becomes a whirling id who is big into self-gratification. He's all comic book emotion, cartoon violence and sassy bravado. The plot unfolds in typical fashion, but the visuals are ingenious and the dialogue creative. Rated PG-13. ***

Black Beauty is a close adaptation of Anna Sewall's kiddie classic that is breathtakingly beautiful to look at, but lags in a few spots. Director Caroline Thompson captures 19th century England in both its pastoral glory and hardness as she follows a handsome black stallion from birth through a hard, working life. It may be too sophisticated for children under six, but this fine version has the same timeless appeal of the novel, which is as much about human foibles as the natural world. Rated G. ***

The Client is a pot-boiler as only John Grisham knows how to write them, even if his plots are beginning to take on a less-than-thrilling predictability. Luckily, the formula is made palatable by a charismatic cast starring newcomer Brad Renfro on an 11-year-old who stumbles onto a mob secret. Susan Sarandon is the shaky lawyer with a troubled past who represents him. There's a lot of chemistry and an undercurrent of psychological tension between Sarandon, young Renfro and high profile federal prosecutor, Tommy Lee Jones. Rated PG-13. ***

HARRISON FORD STARS as the CIA's Jack Ryan in "Clear and Present Danger." Produced by Mace Neufeld and Robert Rehme, the Paramount action-thriller was directed by Phillip Noyce from a screenplay by Donald Stewart and Steven Zaillian and John Milius, based on the novel by Tom Clancy.

Lassie is a surprisingly pleasant update of that old chestnut about a kid and his dog. Sure, it's corny, and bad guy Frederic Forrest is both predictable and goofy, but this charming family flick evokes good will as a city family tries to make a new life for themselves on a rural farm. Director Daniel Petrie captures the lush beauty of the Virginia countryside and keeps the story taut and the values refreshingly wholesome. Rated PG. ***

True Lies is a James Bond-like adventure/love story that will rouse your senses, even if it slightly numbs your brain. The usually stodgy Arnold Schwarzenegger plays a debonair spy who is extremely clever at catching bad guys, but can't get a grip on his suburban wife and sullen daughter. Spunky Jamie Lee Curtis and wryly funny Tom Arnold add warmth to a fun mix of cutting edge special effects. Be forewarned that as enjoyable mindless as this flick is, the pacing is way off; it sags in the center. Rated R. ***

Forrest Gump is a delicious dream of a movie about serendipity; a fable about a simple man who sees the world without rancor or cynicism or even expectation. Through uncanny luck and eye-popping special effects, Forrest rolls through three decades of American history, all the while pining for the love of his childhood playmate (Robin Wright) and changing the lives of those closest to him. Tom Hanks is riveting in the title role and director Robert Zemeckis' camera tricks never overpower. The ending is a bit contrived, but nonetheless digestible. Rated PG-13. ***1/2
